World Health Day is celebrated each year on April 7 to spread global health awareness.

On this occasion The Department of Community Medicine had organized medicine distribution and various events like poster making and video making competition on virtual platform. Preventive homoeopathic medicines for covid 19 were distributed in nearby villages in the morning time by PIHR faculty members. Topics for poster making were life style disorders, maternal and child health and mental health. The celebration of day started with prayer sung by 4th year students. Dr. Bhayalaxmi Jadhav (Asso Prof. community medicine) delivered a welcome speech and after that Dr. Geetika Patel (Trustee Parul University) shared her thoughts on world health day and motivated students. Principal Dr. B.P. Panda addressed everyone. Poster and video clip presentation was soon started and it was presented on virtual platform of Google meet. Dr. Mamta Tapas and Dr. Vandana Patel were the judges for the event, they announced the results at the end of session. Event was concluded with vote of thanks given by Dr. Aarti Kondhalkar (Assistant Prof. community medicine)
